Campus Attending Veterinarian

The Campus Veterinarian is responsible for ensuring that adequate and humane veterinary care is provided to the research and teaching animals at UC Davis. Veterinary care is an essential component of an animal care program to ensure that the humane needs of research animals are met while maintaining compatibility with the scientific requirements. In addition to providing healthy research animals for scientifically sound projects, veterinary care is required by regulatory agencies including the United States Department of Agriculture, the National Institutes of Health, Department of Health and Human Services, and the Association for the Assessment and Accreditation of Laboratory Animal Care, International. The Attending Veterinarian and Campus Veterinarian are used interchangeably at UC Davis to indicate the same position. The Attending Veterinarian (AV) is charged with responsibility for provision of veterinary care for the animal care program. The AV ensures adequate care through delegation of duties and effective communication across the vast UC Davis animal care program.

- Animal Care Program Contact List [1]
- Animal Bites [2]
- Campus Veterinarian’s Policies, Guidelines and Procedures [3]
- Campus Veterinary Services [4]
- CNPRC [5]
- Health Monitoring Program [6]
- Large Animal Field Services [7]
- DVMax® and Veterinary Medical Records [8]
- Minimum Standards of Care Policies [9]
- Sick Animal Reporting Guidelines [10]
- Veterinary Care Program [11]

Note: Our On Call After hours/Emergency Number has been changed to 530.219.3076

Privately owned animals are seen at the William R. Pritchard Veterinary Medical Teaching Hospital [12] in the School of Veterinary Medicine [13]

Contact
Related content

1. Animal Bites
2. Animal Care Program Contact Information
3. Animal Transfers, Import and Exports
4. Campus Veterinarian Policies & Procedures
5. Husbandry Unit
6. Links and References - Animals
7. List of Formularies
8. Teaching and Research Animal Care Services
9. TRACS Veterinary Services

Copyright ©2015 The Regents of the University of California, Davis campus. All rights reserved.

Source URL (modified on 12/11/15 01:39pm): http://ehs.ucdavis.edu/article/campus-attending-veterinarian

Links